About the artwork

"Everyone has the right to own property alone as well as in association with others. No one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his property."

The text is written several times.

In black red green and white the text forms the land trees and birds while a tractor digging up the olive tree is depicted in various shades of blue, written in Jali Diwani.

The word is painted with gouaches that were handmade by the artist on paper that was stained with a wash from onion skin made by the artist following traditional methods.
